

The Impact of Diasporas

A joint University of Leicester and University of Oxford event

Thursday | 17 September 2015
9.30am – 8pm

The Royal Geographic Society

1 Kensington Gore, London, SW7 2AR

The Impact of Diasporas on the Making of Britain programme at the University of Leicester and Oxford Diasporas Programme at the University of Oxford are hosting this event. It is the culmination and conclusion of these two innovative, multidisciplinary five-year research programmes, generously supported by the Leverhulme Trust.

Eighteen wide-ranging papers, reflect the research of the two programmes, under four linking themes:

Home and Away
Remembering and Forgetting
Coming and Going
Lost and Found

Keynote lecture by Thomas Hylland Eriksen (University of Oslo) with presentations by Robin Cohen (Oxford) and Joanna Story (Leicester)
Posters and displays from programme researchers

Find out more and register online www.migration.ox.ac.uk/odp/impact-of-diasporas-event.shtml

